—A social and dance will be given at the W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., headquarters to-morrow evening, for the benefit of comrades and their families.
—An old lady, some seventy years of age, named Shaw, died at the county house yesterday. She formerly resided in this city, and has a son residing in Rock county.
—Colonel Britton, who is now visiting friends in New Jersey, writes that he will be home in about two weeks. He expects to again visit Baltimore and Washington before returning home.
—There is a probability that Maggie Mitchell will not fill the engagement advertised for the 19th. The Beloit engagement has been cancelled, and likely Janesville will be served in the same way.
—The homestead of A. Rider, known as the Holmes place, was sold to-day by C. B. Bowles to G. B. Stevens, of Ft. Atkinson, for $2,500. Mr. Stevens will occupy it as his future home from and after March 20th.
—The Temple of Honor will hold their next social on Friday, February 22d, and as the same occurs on a national holiday, it will be held at Apollo hall, where they can accommodate more of their friends than in their own hall.
—Miss Hattie May, of Fort Atkinson, is in the city the guest of Miss Mary Pond, of the third ward. Miss May is taking cornet lessons, Mr. S. Kent being her teacher, and is making satisfactory progress in playing that instrument.
—The prize drill for the Doe medal takes place at the Guards' armory this evening, and the contest promises to be an exciting one. The public is cordially invited to be present and witness the movements in the manual of arms.

—Dr. Hugh Messias, formerly a student with Dr. E. E. Loomis, but now one of the physicians in the Cook county hospital, came up from the city last evening, and is making glad the hearts of old-time friends to-day. The doctor reports prosperity, and merits success.
—The Fresno (Cal.), Daily Evening Express, of February 5th, comes to us with the following marriage notice marked, which we publish for the benefit of the parties interested, not calling attention to kind: "In Fresno, February 3, 1894, by Rev. T. L. Duke, Mr. H. B. Stulliff to Miss Favianus Sures, both of Fresno."
—Belot suffered another loss of $3,200 by fire last night. A telephone dispatch to the Gazette says that the fire broke out at 12 o'clock last night, and destroyed three one-story buildings on the west side, occupied respectively as a second-hand store, a grocery, and a saloon, the property being well insured. No further particulars.
—Yesterday Mr. G. W. Hawes sold, through the real estate agency of Messrs. Campbell & Stevens, his farm of 300 acres adjoining Clear Lake, in the town of Milton, for the handsome price of $12,000. It is a very cold day when the firm of Campbell & Stevens makes a good sale of real estate, acting on the square with all parties interested.
—The jury in the case of the state against Judd O. Newell, brought in a verdict in the municipal court this afternoon, finding the defendant guilty of an assault with an intent to do great bodily harm. The penalty in such cases is from one to three years in state prison; one year in the county jail, or a fine not less than one hundred, nor more than five hundred dollars.
—The Noshua News is responsible for the following: "Last night during the festivities at the Noshua rink, a lady's set of false teeth were picked up. When it was discovered that a lady's set of teeth had been found, a number of the females were noticed to quickly put their hands to their mouths, thereby giving themselves quite dead away. It was given out that the loser could obtain the property by calling upon the manager, but no one put in a claim for the artificial restorations."
—From the sober deacon of sixty who has lived long enough to forget some of life's frivolities to the small boy of tender years, with a heart just budding under the soothing influence of St. Valentine's day, the entire force was out last evening, and our dealers in the class of goods that are always in demand each year, were kept busy until a late hour. In an interview with one of our merchants this morning, we learn that the sale of Valentines this year is larger than ever before, especially among the more expensive grades. The course of true love ought to run smooth all the rest of the year. There is inspiration in a Valentine only surpassed by swinging on the front gate in the moonlight.
—Mr. John Monaghan who has been engaged in the boot and shoe business on Main street for the past two years, returned to the city last evening. He tells us to-day that his late misfortune was unavoidable and occasioned by depression in business and dull trade. A party out of town held a mortgage on the stock given to secure money loaned Mr. Monaghan when he first went into business. Other creditors became uneasy, and threatened forcing collection of their claims. The mortgagee took possession of the stock, which, of course, he had a right to do. Mr. Monaghan is necessarily out of business but he has not retired with a fortune. Public opinion may be against him for a time, as it is very liable to be in such cases; but it is well to temper our judgment with justice when we criticize men who are unfortunate. The aide that is invisible to public gaze, frequently presents an aspect that would satisfy the most uncharitable.

—They had quite a little sensation at a funeral in Oshkosh the other day, which the Northwestern relates as follows:—
"The funeral of Christian Lampert occurred Sunday from the German Methodist church, the coffin resting near where the deceased dropped dead in church. During the funeral services, quite a sensation was created by the appearance of what appeared to be drops of sweat on the face of the corpse and a collection of moisture on the under side of the glass of the casket. The report spread through the church and created some little excitement and much talk. The undertaker, Conrad, explained that the corpse had been washed with a preparation in a cold room where the preparation had frozen on the face, and in the warm church had melted, forming drops that looked like perspiration. This partially allayed the excitement; but instead of the body being laid to rest in the vault at the cemetery, it was placed in the vault at the cemetery, and the casket opened in order to satisfy the relatives, when the statement of the undertaker was verified."
NATURALISM.
GAIL-GOORDS.
The celebration of a wedding took place in this city at ten o'clock this morning, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Goodins, Dodge street. The parties united in the holy bonds were Mr. Walter L. Gale, a young druggist of Chicago, and Miss Cora B. Goodins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Goodins of this city. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of invited friends and relatives, Chicago, Rockford and Belvidere, being well represented. Rev. W. R. Brown, of the Presbyterian church, performing the ceremony which made the two loving hearts of best as one. The bride's brother George, playing Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bride and groom stepped into the parlor and the happy words spoken that united their hearts and hands as husband and wife. Heartily congratulations followed from all present, and numerous presents were presented by relatives and friends, one of which, from the groom's father, of $5,000 in cash. After partaking of a rich wedding dinner, the newly wedded pair left on the 12:25 train for Chicago, their future home, intending to make their residence at Oak Park. They carry with them the well wishes of a host of friends, in this city for their future happiness and prosperity.
"Mens sana in corpore sano." "A sound mind in a sound body" is the trade mark of Allen's Brain Food, and we assure our readers that, if disatisfied with either weakness of brain or bodily powers, this remedy will permanently strengthen both. It is a digestive, or by mail from J. H. Allen, 315 First Ave. New York City.
Wish Bones.
A "bone of contention" has always characterized a wish bone. All the children in the house want it, and the right of possession sometimes becomes a serious matter to dispose of. One morning last week, with basket on her arm, she tripped into a west side meat market, a youthful bride of the fifth ward. She had just returned from a honeymoon trip, and after putting in order the little house that was to be the happy new home she came down town to do her first marketing. George would be home to dinner at twelve o'clock, and while her experience in the art of cooking was somewhat limited, yet she had diligently studied the cook-book and had reduced in her mind the first dinner to a first class theory. Addressing the young man of white apron and cleaver who stood beside the block, she said, "will you please give me a nice tender roast of liver, trim it well, and please take out all the bones." Turning to suppress a smile, the gentlemanly waiter went into the back office and soon returned with a package which he placed in the basket saying, "you will find this a very superior roast of liver; I have trimmed it well and taken out all the bones, but the wish-bone which we usually leave in for the children." Thanking him for his thoughtfulness and promising to call again, she left the shop.
The first dinner was a success after a careful search for the wish bone, the youthful pair concluded that the butcher must have taken it out by mistake with the other bones.
PURE COD LIVER OIL made from selected livers on the seaboard by Casswell, Hazard & Co., New York. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to any of the other oils in the market.
CHAPPED HANDS, FROST-BITTEN, and rough skin, cured by using JUNITER TAIL SOAP, made by CASWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York.
The Weather.
At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 9 degrees below zero. Clear with west wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 17 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 32 and 38 degrees above zero.
"Rough on Corns."
Ask for Wells' "Rough on Corns." 15 cents. Quick, complete cure. Hard or soft corns, warts, bunions.
"Bucca-paba."
Quick, complete cure, all annoying Kidney, Bladder, and Urinary Diseases. $1. Druggists.
Livery Stable.
Nelson Bro's, corner of Court and Park streets, at the east end of the lower bridge, keep a first class livery stable. Any one in want of a good rig would do well to call on them. They also furnish horses and carriages for funerals at a reasonable rate.
Mothers should remember, in the absence of their physicians, that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral promptly relieves the cough.

OBITUARY.
MRS. HARRIET B. CONRAD.
At a quarter to eight o'clock this morning, Mrs. Harriet B. Conrad, widow of the late Charles H. Conrad, passed to her heavenly rest, in the 55th year of her age. The older citizens of Janesville will read the above announcement with regret. The deceased was born in Madison county, state of New York, September 22, 1838, and came to Janesville with her husband in the early settlement of the village. When the Congregational church society was organized in the then village of Janesville, Mrs. Conrad was among the most active members, and has ever remained a member of that organization, although her bodily infirmities of late years preventing her from attending services in the church, she was present in spirit and never lost her faith in the Lord. By her kind and Christian disposition towards others she gained the lasting friendship of all who had the good fortune to make her acquaintance. The deceased had been an invalid for several years, but was able to be up and around the house. For the past two years she had been troubled with dropsy. This morning she was able to rise as usual, and at 7:45 o'clock she was in the dining room talking with her youngest son, William, when, without a moment's notice, she fell back into a chair, as if fainting, and expired without uttering a word.
She leaves a family of three sons, J. H. Conrad, of Bell, Conrad & Co., Chicago, Charles B. and William B. Conrad, of this city, besides very many true friends to mourn her departure to her home eternal—beyond the grave. Her husband, the late Charles H. Conrad, died April 27, 1876.
The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.
Card of Thanks.
The family of Mr. C. C. Peterson wish to extend thanks to the many friends who so kindly assisted during the long illness and at the funeral of their son.
Almost a Catastrophe.
Coming down Franklin street, yesterday morning, we noticed a boy, a dog, a sled, and a basket. The procession was a lively one, and the time being made could not be complained of. As they skipped by us, and were soon lost to sight, the little incident carried us back forty years, to a boyhood filled full of sleds, dogs and baskets; and the pleasant memory so filled our thought and occupied our mind, that nothing short of an accident could have restored us to the active duties of the hour. The accident came, and after shaking the snow out of our overcoat, we discovered the cause of the fall to be the same basket that had passed us just a few moments before,—the rest of the procession was invisible. Picking up the basket it was found to be empty, but in the bottom of it was a note which read:
MR. JAMES A. DENNISTON: Please send by the boy:
1 dozen oranges.
1 dozen pears.
2 dozen bananas.
2 pounds American grapes.
5 pounds raisin bread prunes.
2 cases Bartlett pears.
1 can Muscat grapes.
1 bottle oil.
1 bottle cherries.
1 bottle brandied peaches.
1 bottle seltzer water.
1 bottle lime juice.
½ dozen bottles champagne vinegar.
Want them all in time for dinner.
We took the basket into Denniston's, and asked him if that wasn't a difficult order to fill. He said, "Oh, no; read my new ad. in the Gazette, and you will see that my stock of all kinds of fruit is very large and complete."
It is bad enough in all conscience to be tormented to death by rheumatism or neuralgia, but when your money is wasted in buying worthless medicines, your case is doubly trying. B. H. Jacques, of Houlton, Me., says he spent $250 trying to cure himself of rheumatism, from which he had suffered for two years and a half. His pastor happily called his attention to ARTHROPORE, whose merits he had himself proved. Two bottles put all his pains to flight and placed him on his feet again.
Free Trade.
A good argument for free trade walked into our office yesterday morning. He was a young man, well built, decently well dressed, and a foreigner. With all the love of a mother country for which his race is noted, he commenced to enlarge at once on the benefits derived by people who were content to always live in their native land, and regretting that he had never been permitted to make his home in America, everything was so much cheaper in the old country, wages were low to be sure, but everything else was low in proportion; and then the goods made were so much more durable. "Why," he said, "look at this suit of clothes. I bought them over there twelve years ago, for twelve dollars, and have worn them ever since, to be sure they begin to show wear a little and need cleaning up, but when I go back next year I will have them overhauled and then they will be good for several years more." A very remarkable suit we said; are such goods still made in your country?
"Oh, yes, plenty of them," he said, "but your abominable tariff prevents the people in this country having the benefit of them." Here was indeed a knockdown argument. One dollar a year for clothes. What is life in a free country but a burden, even with wages at two dollars a day. What fortunes had been accumulated on clothes alone in the past twelve years. The tariff is indeed a fraud and ought to be abolished. Turning to him we said:
"Young man you are sure you are not mistaken about this suit of clothes?"
"Oh, no," he said, "I remember when they were bought as well as though it were yesterday."
"You seem to be about twenty-one now?"
"Yes, in my twenty-second year."
He left the office suddenly to speak to a friend outside, promising to call again. It has not been misrepresented matters, he is certainly a walking argument in favor of free trade. The only thing not quite clear to us is the size of the suit when he bought it; but he seemed a candid young man, and no doubt can make this minor point clear. If he does our true trade fair will float from a new forty foot pole as soon as spring opens.

The Massacre at Sinaloa.
Cairo, Feb. 14.—It is learned that Osman Digma offered to spare the Sinaloa garrison if they would deliver Tawila May up to him. The offer was not taken.
The massacre occurred in a gorge about two miles from Sinaloa. There was a desperate encounter in spite of the excellent condition of the defending party. Eighty-six of the rebels were slain in the fight.
Gordon's Idea.
Cairo, Feb. 14.—In pursuance of his well known theories as to the best method of settling the Sudan troubles, Gen. Gordon is everywhere deposing Egyptian governors and appointing native dignitaries in their places.
Gen. Gordon has left Berber continuing his journey to Khartoum.
Talk About Gladstone.
Barnum, Feb. 14.—The Post asserts that Mr. Gladstone's policy is to gain control of Central Africa while pretending that he reluctantly enters the Sudan because compelled to interfere.
National Zeitung predicts that there will soon be a reconstruction of Mr. Gladstone's cabinet, in order to secure unanimity of opinion upon the policy to be pursued in regard to the Sudan.
Stettinmarcher, the Assassin.
VIENNA, Feb. 14.—In their investigation concerning Stettinmarcher, the assassin of Detective Bloch, it has been discovered that when he was living at Zurich some time ago, he planned an attempt upon the life of Emperor William.
Onslaught of Disaster.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 14.—The beach is strewn with oranges, lemons, apples, carols, turnips, and other fruits and vegetables. There have been piled up during the morning several pieces of wreckage, including parts of a vessel's wheel and some fragments of a canoe board, which, on being pulled together, form a "Royal Arch." This is supposed to be the name of the boat of the Royal Arch, which was sunk near Long Island a few days since, but she was loaded with ice, and from the fruit washing ashore, it is evident that there has been another vessel lost.
Relief Promised.
SPARKS, Feb. 14.—Admiral Hewitt has dispatched a letter to Tait, encouraging the garrison to hold out and promising speedy relief.
THE MARKETS.
Chicago, Feb. 13.
On Chicago to-day the markets for egg products and the leading cereals opened dry, heavy and lower, but about noon activity and firmness set in, under speculative influence. Most pork 30 cents higher, with sales at $13.75 to $13.85. Lard 5 to 7½ cents higher, at $10.75 to $10.85. May, $10.75 to $10.85. Wheat for May sold at $1.04 to $1.05.
